
Commencement Program

May 17, 2025

These Commencement proceedings are a celebration of the achievements of our students, faculty, and honorees—as well as a show of appreciation to the loved ones who have supported those achievements.

Out of respect for those we honor here, and those who have come to acknowledge and celebrate their good work, we ask that you do all you can to create a congenial atmosphere. Please silence cell phones and refrain from any behaviors that might interfere with or disrupt these proceedings.

Grad Images takes professional photos of each graduate during the ceremony. Grad Images will reach out to graduates a few weeks after commencement with a link to view their photos online. Ordering photos from Grad Images is optional for graduates and their families. For more information, visit gradimages.com.

York College of Pennsylvania

York College of Pennsylvania is an independent, comprehensive, private college offering majors in the arts and sciences as well as professionally oriented programs of study. York is nationally recognized for its high-quality academic programs, friendly campus atmosphere, and affordable cost. Emphasis is placed upon a superior teaching faculty, the majority of whom hold doctorates. More than 3,500 undergraduate and graduate students represent some 35 states and 28 foreign countries. York offers over 70 baccalaureate majors, along with 30+ professional graduate degree and certificate programs. Deeply rooted in the liberal arts, York is recognized for excellence in its professional Business, Education, Engineering, and Nursing programs.

The history of York College is long and varied. In 1787, the York Academy was formed. It merged in 1929 with the York Collegiate Institute, which was founded in 1873. The York Collegiate Institute became York Junior College in 1941 and, in 1968, York College of Pennsylvania.

Alma Mater

Ralph Woolley

The Years shall pass, but we will not forget
Our alma mater dear.
Resound the hallowed halls with homage yet
Keeping faith without fear.
Consecrated to the truth and right,
Our pledge to thee, old green and white;
Let the chorus fill the air,
Let the song go everywhere,
Every heart sing bold and free,
Giving praise old York to thee
E'en to eternity.

Commencement Speaker

David W. Sunday

Attorney General David W. Sunday Jr. has dedicated his career to public service, justice, and the protection of communities across Pennsylvania. His distinguished journey began with service in the United States Navy, a decision that instilled in him the core values of honor, commitment, and courage. As an enlisted recruit, he was deployed to the Persian Gulf during Operation Desert Strike and later participated in counter-narcotics operations in South America and the Caribbean. These experiences shaped his leadership and resilience under pressure—qualities that have defined his legal career.

Attorney General Sunday earned his law degree from Widener University Commonwealth Law School, where he further honed his passion for justice. During law school, he gained invaluable experience as a legal intern with the United Nations Office of the Secretariat in New York, contributing to the Department of Peacekeeping Operations.

Following law school, Sunday embarked on a distinguished tenure with the York County District Attorney's Office, where he prosecuted some of the region's most complex and high-profile cases. Rising through the ranks, he became District Attorney, leading York County's efforts to combat the opioid crisis, protect vulnerable populations, and enhance public safety.

Beyond the courtroom, Attorney General Sunday has been a leader in legal and community initiatives. He has served as President of the York County Bar Association, Chair of the York Opioid Collaborative, and Chair of the Education and Training Committee of the Pennsylvania District Attorneys Association.

Now, as Pennsylvania's Attorney General, he is committed to strengthening public safety, tackling violent crime, and expanding initiatives to combat the opioid epidemic. He plans to enhance resources for law enforcement, hold drug traffickers accountable, and support victims of crime. With a firm dedication to upholding the rule of law, he is focused on ensuring justice is served and that Pennsylvania remains a safe place to live, work, and raise a family.

York College of Pennsylvania is honored to welcome Attorney General David Sunday as the 2025 Commencement Speaker, recognizing his unwavering commitment to justice, leadership, and service.

Recognition of Retiring Faculty

Graham School of Business

Dr. Fred Becker, a native of upstate New York, is retiring after 39 years of teaching and administrative assignments in higher education. He holds degrees from Paul Smith's College, the University of Denver, and Plattsburgh State University. In 2012, he completed his PhD at Pennsylvania State University, majoring in Hospitality Management. His research interests included "fun in the workplace," employee turnover, employee selection, and student engagement.

In addition to teaching courses in hospitality and tourism management, he has been responsible for several administrative assignments, including faculty coordinator at Paul Smith's College, Dean of Business and Hospitality at Penn College, and program coordinator/department chair at York College. Dr. Becker has been actively involved in industry organizations at the local, state, and national levels, including the Williamsport/Lycoming Chamber of Commerce, the New York State Hospitality and Tourism Association, the Pennsylvania Restaurant and Lodging Association, the Middle States Commission on Higher Education, and the International Council on Hotel, Restaurant, and Institutional Education. In addition to teaching and research, he has been committed to experiential education, program accreditation, and international experiences.

He enjoys spending time with family, hiking, biking, boating, golfing, sampling food and wine, and traveling in his spare time.

Dr. Jeffrey Woodall began his journey with York College of Pennsylvania in 1996 as an MBA student. After graduating, he was invited to join the part-time faculty, teaching Information Technology and Marketing classes. Several years later, he pursued a career change and entered a Doctorate in Business Administration (DBA) program. Upon earning his degree, Dr. Woodall was hired as a full-time faculty member.

Before joining York College full-time, Dr. Woodall spent over 20 years at Procter & Gamble in various roles, including sales, marketing, HR, and global business services. Earlier in his career, he worked in small business and retail management. Dr. Woodall brings his wealth of experience into the classroom and often praises the Graham School of Business faculty, who teach from experience, not just textbooks.

Dr. Woodall has long believed in giving back and lives by the College motto—"To serve is to live."

He has been active in the community and at the College, serving on boards for Byrnes Health Education and United Way of York County and serving and leading committees and work groups in those and other organizations. At York College, Dr. Woodall has served his department, his school, and the College overall, serving as Department Chair, on Academic Senate committees, and numerous ad-hoc and search committees, as well as Vice President and President of the Academic Senate.

Dr. Woodall has been married for 42 years, has a daughter, Christina ('10), and a grandson, Cash.

Academic Regalia

The medieval scholar wore a clerical robe so all would know his station in society. The clerical-type robe was appropriate, since all students were expected to become part of the clergy. Distinctions have always been made among the academic grades. Thus, the robe of the doctor is more elaborate than that of the master, and the master's is different than the undergraduate student.

Academic regalia has always consisted of three parts—the gown, the hood, and the cap. There is considerable variation in European universities. In 1893, a system was adopted in the United States so that one could tell at a glance the university where the degree was earned, the field of study in which the degree was earned, and the level of the earned degree.

Most robes are black, although occasionally a particular university may adopt a robe of another color, such as Harvard in adopting the crimson as its own. Doctoral robes are longer, fuller, and more richly trimmed, with bands of velvet down the front and on the sleeves. These can be black or symbolize a field of study. The master's gown has sleeves usually cut above the elbow and the bachelor's gown is a simple pleated robe.

The cap of most American universities is typically the stiff, square, black traditional mortarboard with black tassel. The doctoral cap may have a gold tassel, with the tassel worn on the left. Many European universities favor the soft beret-type cap, and a few American institutions use this type.

The hood is the most interesting and colorful part of the regalia. The largest hood is the doctor's, while the smallest is the bachelor's. The color, or colors, of the hood's lining, arranged in chevrons, symbolizes the colors of the college or university that granted the degree. Thus, York College of Pennsylvania has chevrons of green and white. The velvet trim, visible at the neck, indicates the field of study in which the degree was earned. Some frequently seen hood colors and the fields of study are as follows:

Golden yellow | Science
White | Arts and Letters
Light blue | Education

Pink | Music
Drab | Business
Apricot | Nursing

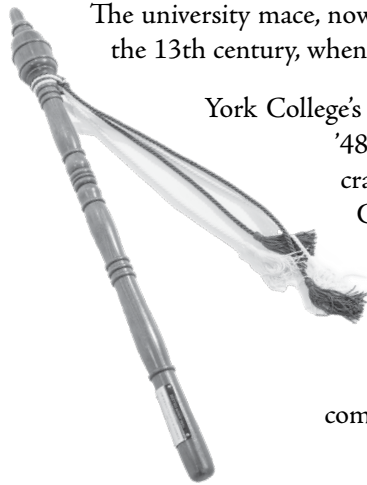

Scarlet | Theology
Dark blue | Philosophy
Lemon | Library Science

Seal

The York College seal was first shared on the cover of the March 1970 issue of The York Scene, the alumni publication at the time. That issue also offered an explanation of the seal's meaning: "The open book suggests the basic reason for the existence of York College—that the institution holds as its purpose the primacy of a good education. The green and white colors which make up the seal are variously reversed in contiguous areas. The motto, 'servire est vivere,' is translated as 'To serve is to live.' It states a basic axiom of that which the nobleman seeks. Certainly, service to mankind is that ideal to which society should attain, and without which society becomes self-seeking and individualistic and in effect, 'dies.' "

Mace

The university mace, now used during commencement and convocation ceremonies, traces its origins to the 13th century, when it was held by the protector of a sovereign at official meetings.

York College's official mace, carried by the Head Marshal, was created by Edward Glatfelter '48 and presented in 1961 to York Junior College President Dr. Ray Miller. It is crafted from two pieces of wood believed to have come from the buildings of the College's earliest predecessor institutions: York County Academy (founded in 1787) and York Collegiate Institute (founded in 1871).

The smaller black maces, carried by other Marshals during the procession, are the earliest versions of the College's academic mace and were first used during the 1959 commencement exercises. The tradition of leading the commencement procession with the College's mace has continued for over 50 years.

Acknowledgments

Grateful appreciation is extended to the many people who have contributed to the success of these Commencement Exercises by generously giving their time and talents. Acknowledgments include the facilities staff members, who ensure the campus and event site are ready to welcome those who come to celebrate our graduates; the ushers, who warmly greet our guests and help ensure their comfort throughout the event; and the volunteers, who work behind the scenes to help everything go according to plan.
